SCOUTING

THE SHOPS with Sally

Our first contingent of company, an earnest maiden lady from the East, arrived this week, entered Milo's Market, and promptly refused to budge. It was just like Ferdinand smelling the flowers, only worse.

"Fresh fish!", she breathed. "Right out of the ocean! And ripe apricots! Did you ever see anything that looked so delicious? Do you mean to tell me that you have this many fresh fruits and vegetables to choose from all the time?"

We assured her that at Milo's we had the finest food products the State could offer, right at our fingertips. We also assured her that if we didn't leave pretty soon --

In the end we had to take Ferdinand by the horns by inquiring whether she had come to see the World's Fair or Milo's Market.

Following which, we took her over to Edwards Drug Store and bought a Hop Ching game for 25c to patch things up.

Now we suppose the problem will be getting her away from Chinese checkers long enough to see the "Indians of Rhythm" at the Daly City theatre tomorrow night. We don't know whether it's a proper show for maiden ladies -- but we can't leave company home alone.

We took her with us to Robertson's Egg Store and showed her what a wide selection of fresh country eggs Daly City offers, and how reasonable the prices are now.

Also very reasonable are the specials at Lucca Ravioli company this week. A huge box of soap chips (five pounds in fact!) for only 29c; lovely strawberries, 5c a basket; leg of spring lamb, 27c a pound. As a matter of fact, there were so many outstanding specials that we were led into

SATISFYING SOUPS

Time was when the "stock pot," simmering away on the back of the range, was part and parcel of every American kitchen. The homemaker was always ready, with the addition of this or that, to turn out any one of a dozen varieties of flavorful, soul-satisfying soups.

But the soup pot went out of existence long years ago, and the American woman has come to depend upon the manufacturers to make her soups and present to her ready to serve. But there are many kinds of soups that are not now available on the market, yet they are so delicious and easy to prepare that they should be included in the menus of every woman proud of her reputation as a cook. This Peanut Butter Soup, for example, which is just as delicious as any of the old favorites, and very much more unusual, can be made in a jiffy! Children and grown people, too, will love its distinctive flavor.

PEANUT BUTTER SOUP

1 quart milk
3 bouillon cubes
Dash of pepper
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
1/4 cup peanut butter
Sautéed croutons
Chopped parsley
Place 3/4 cups of milk, the bouillon cubes, pepper, and onion in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and cook 10 minutes. Strain. Place remaining milk and peanut butter in bowl and beat with rotary egg beater until smooth. Add to milk mixture. Re-heat and serve with croutons and top with chopped parsley. Yield: 6 portions.

But speaking of soups, the modern difficulty of getting the family to eat their spinach and drink the proper quantity of milk ceases to be a problem when you serve them this Spinach Soup O'Malley.

Furthermore, and because of its delightful blend of seasonings, the spinach masquerades almost as some very new and very different ingredient. The chopped pimiento and sweet pickle add character and distinction to this soup, too, and the crisp texture of the pickles is a pleasing contrast to the smooth, creamy soup base. And, best of all -- because of the fact that we deal with our eyes, the soup is just as good to look at, as it is to eat! We introduce to you --

SPINACH SOUP O'MALLEY

1/2 cup finely chopped onions
4 tablespoons bacon fat or butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 cups milk
2/3 cup finely chopped cooked spinach
1 large pimiento, chopped
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/3 cup chopped sweet pickles
2/3 cup stale bread cubes
Slowly sauté the onions in 2 tablespoons of the fat, until the onions are slightly yellow. Stir in the flour, salt, and pepper. Add 1 cup of the milk and cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Add to remaining milk in top part of double boiler; add spinach, pimiento, and Worcestershire sauce. Re-heat. Add pickles and serve immediately with bread cubes which have been sautéed in remaining fat until browned. Yield: 6 portions.

Cheese Soup Supreme is as tasty, and smooth, and "smart" a dish as you could ask for. The combination of both flavor and texture contributed by the chopped dill

Crocker P. T. A.
Plan Whist Party

Crocker P. T. A. has completed plans for a life membership whist party to be held next Monday evening at Eagles hall. Attractive prizes, including cash and door prizes, are being offered. Playing is to begin promptly at 8:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

"Many people do not understand the term 'life membership,'" pointed out Mrs. Mildred Seiler, president of the organization.

"Life Membership is a fund in the P. T. A. that is set aside for the aid of deserving students who are desirous of furthering their education but would not be able to do so unless aided financially. These students who wish to continue in college or business school may borrow from the P. T. A. fund without the burden of interest charges. They are to pay it back when they have obtained positions.

The various P. T. A.s buy these 'life membership' funds at the rate of $25 each, in the name of one of their own members who has done outstanding work for his or her unit. The honored members must still continue to pay their own dues as this honor is in recognition of their faithfulness only, and the money goes toward aiding some worthy student," Mrs. Seiler concluded.

Crocker P. T. A. members who have received 'life membership' awards include: Mrs. Lillian Landini, in 1932; Mrs. Nora Clifton, in 1935; Mrs. Gertrude Walker, in 1937; Mrs. Julia Jordan, in 1937;

Smart Rainwear

That adage, "prepare for a rainy day," ever instilled in the minds of the young, has been taken literally in the realm of fashion. The modern interpretation of stylish rainwear is reflected in the very attractive rain cape here pictured. Surely some little girl's geography book must have inspired this all-America raincape in that it is printed with a map of the United States, rivers and mountains and borderlines included. It comes either with a babushka to match, as pictured, or if preferred you can get it with attached hood.

Mrs. Joy Alexander, in 1937; Mrs. Nell Caine, in 1938; and Mrs. Bernadine Lewis, in 1939.

Fire Damages
Bay Meadows Nursery

Firemen this week were investigating a blaze of unknown origin in that early Wednesday morning swept the office and two packing sheds of the Bay Meadows nursery, Hillside boulevard, Colma, causing approximately $5000 damage.

A large truck, several hundred dollars' worth of equipment, and some flowers were also destroyed. Damage to the flowers was caused by firemen and equipment in fighting the blaze.

According to firemen, the blaze probably began in the office about 2 a. m. It was discovered and reported to Daly City and Colma firemen at 4 a. m. by a milkman passing the nursery.

Peter Mataria, owner of the nursery, and firemen were unable to explain its cause.

Largest Class
At UC Gets Degrees

Commencement exercises were held in California Memorial Stadium in Berkeley Sunday afternoon, May 20, for the largest graduating class ever to receive degrees from the University of California. There were, in all, 3,853 degrees and certificates handed the young men and women as they filed by in double line to receive their honors from the hands of President Robert G. Sproul and Vice President Monroe E. Deutch. Those who received degrees and certificates were students from the Berkeley, San Francisco and Davis campuses.

Laura Elizabeth Titus of Oakland, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the College of Letters and Science, was the Commencement speaker. The invocation and benediction were by Reverend Gail Cleland, of the First Congregational Church of Alameda.

Daly City and Colma were represented in the lengthy list of students' 'home towns' by Clytie Frances Clousky and Mary Colter Callan. Both Miss Clousky, Daly City, and Miss Callan, Colma, received their degrees of Bachelor of Arts from the College of Letters and Science.

Resume Work
At Vista Park Tomorrow

Approximately 20 men will resume operations tomorrow (Wednesday) on the PWA project at Vista Grande park, it was announced today.

Plans call for the completion of the lower level of the park, including bleachers, baseball field with dugouts and backstop, rest rooms, spreading of top soil and turfing.

Scouting the Shops

buying not only for all the company present, but for all to come.
● This week's specials at the local automobile firms fired our elderly aunt into declaring that with cars selling for a song in Daly City, she was minded to buy herself one and drive home. "Land o' living, I can't afford not to," she said. "And besides, think of all the fun I'm missing!" (See Page 4).
● She wasn't missing any of the fun at the Cut-Rate Market, however. Luscious fresh peaches and big black cherries were eaten almost as fast as they were bought.

"They look so good," she defended herself. We thought so too, to the point where we almost forgot our own manners. (We also rejoiced that the Cut-Rate is offering another special in sugar, 10 pounds for 47c.)

● Byrne Radio Store is still offering to come to your home and fix your radio for only $1. If any of your other household appliances are acting queer, they'll investigate them, too.

● Lucky Lager Beer is three bottles for 25c at Westlake Market, and tomatoes are only 5c a pound. When we took our aunt down to Westlake Market she agreed with us that their fresh fruits and vegetables are tempting enough to have come out of the Garden of Eden.

● Henry Warshawski is offering sensational week-end specials in fine-quality pillowslips, two pairs for a dollar, to say nothing of children's oxford tennis shoes at only 25c. (But don't forget that these offers are good only Thursday, Friday and Saturday.)

● Did we tell you we bought a Frigidaire last week from A. M.
Harrison? We don't want to gloat, but you have no idea how fresh and nice all our food is now, with the lettuce all crisp and the celery curled—or now much easier the housework is when things can be put into the Frigidaire and kept indefinitely.

● Speaking of keeping things indefinitely, if you've been doing that with your old magazines and rags, now is the time to call Boy Scout Troop No. 141. See their ad on page 6.

● If you find any good clothing in your forays, have it cleaned at Deeson's where small repairs will be made free of charge.

● Might be a good idea to have the car washed, too. Hammer's Shell Service will do a grand job for only 50c.

● As for yourself, why not one of those new machineless permanents at the Daly City Beauty

Lace Tunes to This Summer's 'Lovely Lady' Fashion Trends

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ITS fashions that trend to "lovely lady" types that will hold the spotlight during the coming months. Which brings us at once to the theme of this story—lace, lovely lace! With the new styles going in so enthusiastically for feminine prettiness in hat, gown and accessories, the logical answer needs must be lace, as has been the answer throughout the centuries of fashions that have gone before.

...the craze for lace trims on hats, for billowy masses of lace at throat and at wrist, with the return of the "baby waist" that is exquisitely sheer and entrancingly lace-trimmed, with tailored laces for daytime wear, with sheer pleated laces for dress-up wear, with picturesque period frocks enchantingly detailed in lace, with lace playing a star role in boudoir fashions, with accessories even to gloves and bags and boutonnieres of lace, the current message of lace has become too vast, too all-inclusive for words. You just have to let the bigness of the lace theme grow upon you as the pageantry of present and coming modes pass in review.

The important thing to say about modern laces is that they are so versatile in character that there's a lace for every occasion no matter what the challenge may be. For that matter it is not an exaggeration to say that an entire wardrobe could be planned of lace. There are fabriclike laces for tailored use, stunning laces for afternoon frocks, laces of grand dame elegance for formal evening wear, sheer laces of cobweb mesh that pleat up beautifully, two-way stretch laces for bathing suits and so on and so on without end.

The responsiveness of lace to every mood of fashion accounts for the fact that designers are acquiring the lace habit with an increasing enthusiasm as the possibilities reveal the growing tendency of lace producers to supply a type for every need.

The illustration presents three distinct types of frocks fashioned of lace. A new medium for the tailored sheer dress which will be found ever so practical for summer wear, is an interesting conventionally patterned two-tone lace as pictured to the left in the group. Bruyere designed this dress which has a grosgrain ribbon belt and two ribbon bows on the shoulder.

Utterly feminine and charming is the afternoon dress shown in the foreground to the right. Vera Borea designs this lovely frock of a delicate but firm lace that delineates big florals with sheer mesh between. The ruffles around the neckline and on the sleeves are indicative of Paris trends. In this dress of horizon blue lace the ruffles lend a be-gulling feminine note with no suggestion of fussiness. For summer afternoon wear and informal evenings, there is wide favor expressed for pastel laces.

An interesting feature of sheer afternoon lace frocks is that many are worn over costume slips in contrasting color. Dark laces, very sheer, are also worn over light foundation slips. The monotone effect that demands a matching color for the slip is equally good style.

The model in the center shows an evening dress designed by Molyneux. It demonstrates how pleasingly sheer lace yields to pleated treatments. The straight-fitted sheath skirt is finely pleated, and the dramatic balloon sleeves are likewise pleated. The deep square décolletage is noteworthy.

pickles is amazing. This recipe too—is well worth trying.

CHEESE SOUP SUPREME

2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups top milk
1/3 cup Old English cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup chopped dill pickles
1 pimienta, chopped
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
Melt butter in top of double boiler and stir in flour. Add 1 cup of the milk and cheese. Place over boiling water and cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Add remaining milk, salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce. Turn heat to low so that water does not boil. Re-heat. Add pickles, pimienta, and parsley; serve immediately. This soup is equally delicious when chilled. Yield: 6 portions.

Joan Crawford as 'Cinderella' in Gay Mother Goose Ballet of 'Ice Follies'

There is such a thing as the Land of Mother Goose. It was especially created for "The Ice Follies of 1939," starring Joan Crawford with James Stewart, Lew Ayres and Lewis Stone, playing at the Daly City theatre for an engagement of three days, beginning today.

Not even Grimm in his wildest flight of imagination could have conceived the picture. Erected on a floor of solid ice, one hundred and forty by eighty feet in size, stood a house of sugar cookies and gingerbread with peppermint sticks serving as pillars. Strange, puffy bushes surrounded the building and giant trees with silver trunks and foliage that looked like green silk balloons towered eighty feet overhead.

There was a burst of music. From behind the foliage glided Little Red Riding Hood in a costume of flaming satin and carrying a gold basket to her grandmother. Her image, as well as that of the entire set, was mirrored in the ice which had been sprayed with water. Red Riding Hood was portrayed by LaVerne Busher, champion skater, who gradually worked into a very modern version of the fairytale character by removing her famous hood and shaking her curly locks to a contagious rumba rhythm.

Soon the ice was covered with all the nursery characters imaginable. There were the Three Fiddlers, the cow that jumped over the moon, the giant pie containing twenty-four blackbirds, fairy princes and princesses and their respective godmothers who twirled in grace and rhythm to the melodies of full orchestra.

There was a fanfare of trumpets and all action ceased. Into the scene glided Joan Crawford, the Cinderella of the spectacle, accompanied by Princes James Stewart and Lew Ayres. Nothing had been eliminated. There was a Grand March, the glass slipper, even the pumpkin coach.

The music slowly died away. The shimmering reflections in the ice faded. There was a whirr of wings as a giant goose mounted by the blue clad figure of nursery days streaked away into the distance.

Plan Summer Concert Series

Citizens of San Francisco area will welcome the opportunity of attending the coming six sensational "Opera House" concerts to be presented by the Federal Music Project of the Works Progress administration in the War Memorial Opera House starting, Friday evening, June 16 at 8:30 p. m. Never before in the history of music in San Francisco has a series of musical events been offered to music lovers with such scope and variety for such a nominal general admission price.

The Federal Music and Theatre projects will combine their efforts towards making this timely series of "Summer Concerts" absolutely outstanding. Brilliant and popular programs have been selected and distinguished soloists are being engaged for these performances.

Under the baton of Nathan Abas, the Federal Symphony Orchestra of Northern California will be heard to its best advantage. It is of special interest that the Federal Theatre Modern Dance Group, under the direction of Myra Kinch, will present a number of interesting ballets which have not been seen in this city before.

Excerpts from such well known operas as "Aida," "La Forza del Destino," and "Carmen" will find a place on these programs with the Federal Chorus participating under the direction of Giulio Silva.

A full-size windmill, a six-ton lugger and 400 classical Dutch chairs have arrived from Holland consigned to the New York World's Fair.

Jewelry in Line With New Trend

Flower, Shell and Bubble
Bead in Favor.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The new jewelry is "different." Some of the prettiest necklaces and bracelets look as if wreaths of flowers encircled throat and wrist. The flower motifs are either of composition or that which is newest, glazed pottery effects, carried out in realistic colors. Most flattering is this new flower jewelry. In the same light some summery spirit is the charming bubble glass necklaces with bracelets to match, the beads in many strands and in pastel colorings of great beauty that blend in charmingly with pretty summer clothes.

A great display is being made of shell jewelry in lovely tones and tints. It is becoming quite the custom to select a color for your accessories and then proceed to match up jewelry, boutonniere, gloves, veils and other items. A basic dress, well styled and of good material with different jewelry and other accessory ensembles, becomes an entire wardrobe in itself.

Contrasting the riotous color that continues to rage throughout all fashiondom is the stampede for white accessories that is gaining momentum with every tick of the clock. White hats worn with black, navy, brown or the new Molyneux navy green is fashion's latest offering, and the idea is making widespread appeal. Of course it's logical to accompany white hats with white gloves. White neckwear flourishes in the mode also, and that which looks smartest of all is the new chalk-white jewelry the demand for which exceeds in volume anything expected. The necklaces and bracelets and huge clips may be of white flowers, of white beads or of any sort of bangles or gadgets that are daintily white.
